Learn more about your local hospital; schedule a speaker

Longer life spans and rising costs have created a need for important changes to our healthcare system. In Ontario today health care consumes 42 cents of every dollar spent on provincial programs. Without change that figure will rise to 70 cents of every dollar within the next 12 years.

Stevenson Memorial Hospital is adapting to these changes while continuing to deliver excellent care. Adapting to the changes will be easier if the community has a deeper knowledge and understanding of the health system in change. Stevenson is beginning a public information initiative aimed at giving the community a better knowledge of the hospital and its plans for the future.

A major part of this initiative is a program of speaking engagements to community groups. We have prepared a 20-minute presentation for community groups interested in gaining a better understanding of the hospital and its role in the community.

Sincerely,

Jim Poling
Chair, Communications Committee
