MAMMOGRAPHY INFORMATION

WHAT IS MAMMOGRAPHY?

Mammography is the x-ray examination of the breasts, done to detect breast disease, particularly cancer.

WHAT ARE THE ADVANTAGES OF MAMMOGRAPHY?

Mammography can detect many breast cancers before they can be felt by a woman herself or by her physician.

Early diagnosis of breast cancer, before it has spread, permits simpler surgery and treatment and is very important in prolonging a woman's life after diagnosis.

The combination of clinical breast examination by a trained professional and mammography is crucial in the early detection and successful treatment of breast cancer.

To avoid delays in booking routine tests your appointment may be scheduled on a day a doctor is not available to review your films before you leave, so you may need to come back for additional films.

Day of the Test

- Wear a two-piece outfit, with a top that is easy take off.
- You are asked to not wear deodorant or talcum powder.

THE TEST

- Every mammogram needs at least 4 pictures and they are
 - 1 view of each breast from top to bottom
 - 1 view of each breast from side to side
- Although you will have some discomfort while each image is taken, the exam should not be painful.
- For each picture a special paddle on the mammography machine firmly presses the breast against a detector for 5-10 seconds.
- This pressure to the breast (or compression) is very necessary. It allows the specialist to see fine detail which might otherwise be missed.
- Without compression, breast tissue has the same appearance as fluffy cotton wool. Also, compressing the breast reduces the amount of radiation to the breast.

It will take 3 working days for the report of your examination to be sent to your doctor

ADDITIONAL FILMS

- Depending on your age, family history and condition, the specialist, after having seen the 4 pictures, may ask for additional mammography views and/or an ultrasound test of specific areas of the breast. This request is routine (even for "normal" breasts) and does not necessarily indicate a problem.

If you need to return for additional mammogram views and/or ultrasound, you will be notified by your own doctor.

Your own doctor will then arrange a new appointment for you.

IS THERE ANY PREPARATION INVOLVED?

You should wear a two piece outfit since you will need to undress from the waist up. You should remove all under arm deodorant or powder by washing under your arms and around your breasts prior to the examination.

You may wish to bring underarm deodorant to apply after the exam. Avoiding caffeine for one week prior to your mammogram may make the examination more comfortable.

Please arrive 10 minutes before your actual appointment time. This allows us to complete the preliminary paper work.
